FINE ARTS PERFORMANCES!

African Griot Performance

One of Junior Players' Griot Storytellers will entertain and educate students on African culture through the telling of stories, folktales and drumming of Africa.

Performance material varies based on the grade level.

Creative Spoken Word Performance

A Junior Players artist will perform the art of spoken word. Spoken word performances focus on words, the dynamics of tone, gestures & facial expressions.

Performance material varies based on the grade level.

Flamenco Dance Performance

A variety of Flamenco dances available for performance! Students will be exposed to a dance performance by a professional company. Flamenco combines elements of Spain's culture, history, folklore with rhythm and body movement.

Performance material varies based on the grade level. Limited availability.

Strike, Scrape & Shake

Entertaining and Educational! Mark Shelton treats students to high energy performances on several members of the percussion family. Students get into the act with a little hambonin' body music as Mark discusses the history of percussion. Instruments include Cajon, Hammered Dulcimer, Cymbals, Electronic Percussion, Handpan, & more.

Lots of sound & variety!

The Sing-Along Cowboy

Bob Ackerman, also known as the Sing Along Cowboy provides a fun and interactive performance featuring classic country western songs! His performance will combine songs that are suitable for all age groups with different versions of songs to accommodate any age level. His performance is highly educational and popular at public schools in the Dallas area and features both a musical Texas History Show as well as a tribute to the great African American musicians.

Special Arts Education Programs for Grades K - 12

Building Connections to the Real World

This program will instruct the students in both the fine and applied arts, to not only meet academic goals but also to provide a career focus. Junior Players' arts education programs are designed to improve student academic achievement and to especially help promise-filled students who might otherwise not have the opportunities for arts education programs. In this program Junior Players will use multiple disciplines such as theater, film, multi-media design, visual art, photography and writing to engage the students in learning new skills. There will be an emphasis on communication and conflict resolution in each class. The students will be provided with a writing journal and writing will be required in these classes. This program includes a variety of classes including fashion design, photography, film, multi-media design, visual art, dance, theater and modeling. These programs help the students explore their creativity, enhance their critical thinking skills, and develop their communication skills as they engage in an exciting and structured environment. Examples of our specific projects within the program guidelines include working on visual arts projects with a specific focus on fashion design in the fashion design class, learning to create sales copy and marketing pitches as they develop a script for the class to present at the end of the program in the creative writing class and producing a short film that was conceptualized, developed, edited and filmed by students in the film program. All programs have lesson plans and learning objectives based on the TEKS. Junior Players' teaching artists are trained in their specific arts field(s). They are recruited from the professional arts community and are screened by our programmatic personnel. Teaching artists for this program must undergo a series of professional development trainings that are tailored to this specific program.

$125 - $150 per hour (Price subject to negotiation per district contract. Program content will be modified for respective grade levels.)

Discover Life Skills

This course will use arts enrichment programs to teach students writing, communication skills and conflict resolution techniques. Students will learn to write a resume and will extemporize job interviews as well as keep daily journals. Students will learn conflict resolution through role-play and will work on a class project demonstrating the skills they have learned. During the course of this program, students will create peer driven conversations as they get to know each other through silent communication activities, partner interviews and conflict resolution role-play scenarios. Ongoing lessons will focus on career exploration opportunities. They will also focus on the skills needed to be a viable applicant for future employers. The lessons will continue to emphasize interviews for a variety of real life settings and conflict resolution role-play for professional work related scenarios. During the final week(s) of this program, students will work on creating a final self-promotion video highlighting their skills, strengths, abilities and future career aspirations. All programs have lesson plans and learning objectives based on the TEKS. Junior Players' teaching artists are trained in their specific arts field(s). They are recruited from the professional arts community and are screened by our programmatic personnel. Teaching artists for this program must undergo a series of professional development trainings that are tailored to this specific program and must follow the Life Skills Curriculum.

$125 - $150 per hour (Price subject to negotiation per district contract. Program content will be modified for respective grade levels.)

Homeless Education Program

This program is a collaboration between Junior Players and the Homeless Education Program. The goal of the Homeless Education Program (HEP) is to provide services that establish stability for children and youth in transition in order to succeed in school. To assure homeless students maintain grade level during periods of transition and to boost State of Texas Assessments of Academic Readiness (STAAR) scores, the Homeless Education Program collaborates with Junior Players to provide after school and school holiday programming through two master teaching artists. Our master theater arts workshops focus on engaging students through storytelling, learning theater skills and concepts in theater emphasizing oral communication skills. These classes use theater and storytelling to educate, enlighten, empower, and entertain. Our master Sing-Along Cowboy program provides a fun and interactive performance and workshop setting featuring classic country western songs and history. This program combines songs that are suitable for all age groups with different versions of songs to accommodate any age level. This program is highly educational and popular at public schools in the Dallas area and features both a musical Texas History show and workshop combination as well a tribute to the great African American musicians.

*$85 per 1 hour Sing Along Cowboy Workshop; Theater/Storyteller workshop prices vary based on contract length.
(Price subject to negotiation per district contract. Program content will be modified for respective grade levels.)*
